各位親愛的家長:

有關「葡萄糖六磷酸去氫酵素缺乏症」

葡萄糖六磷酸去氫酵素缺乏症，又名 G6PD 缺乏症，俗稱蠶豆症，是一種常見的先天遺傳性疾病。患者由於遺傳基因的先天缺陷，無法正常地分解葡萄糖。部份藥物和化學物如蠶豆、樟腦、臭丸、龍膽紫（紫藥水）、薄荷都會令患者出現急性溶血反應，嚴重時更會出現呼吸急速、心臟衰竭，甚至會出現休克而有生命危險。

為避免校內患有「葡萄糖六磷酸去氫酵素缺乏症」之學生因接觸上述之物品而產生溶血情況，敬請家長在為幼兒選擇防蚊用品(如蚊貼)時，盡量購買純天然成份的產品(如茄紅素)；另若衣服沾有樟腦的氣味，請先掛在通風的地方數天，讓其氣味能充分揮發，以保障其他學生之安全。詳情可瀏覽衛生署家庭健康服務網頁。

Glucose-6-Phosphate Dehydrogenase Deficiency (G6PD Deficiency)

Dear Parents,

Glucose-6-Phosphate Dehydrogenase Deficiency, is also known as G6PD Deficiency in short or Favism. It is the most common inherited metabolic disease. People with this disease do not have enough amount of an enzyme called G6PD in their red blood cells. This enzyme helps to keep red blood cells stable. When they are exposed to some medicines or chemicals, such as fava beans, camphor, mothballs, gentian violet, mint, they will develop acute haemolysis that is sudden damage of the red blood cells. In severe cases, there may be shortness of breath, heart failure, and even shock and life-threatening.

To avoid exposing to the above triggers in school for students with G6PD Deficiency, parents are advised to purchase products with pure natural ingredients (such as lycopene) when choosing anti-mosquito products (such as mosquito sticks) for young children. If the clothes are stained with camphor, please hang them in a ventilated place for a few days to allow the odor to fully evaporate to protect the safety of other students. Yours faithfully,
